

WE ARE POWERED BY PAPER

It is the blank canvas on which we will rewrite the world. Paper gives us the ability to transform words into stories, ones that stay with us. We are powered by paper. It's no coincidence that books have spines, for words found in books carry more weight. Every page we turn, every story we read, awakens our imagination. We are powered by paper. Only by our own handwriting do we put a part of ourselves on the page, hard-wiring ideas into our minds better than any keystroke ever could. We are powered by paper. It makes how we learn up to us. Because the world belongs to the curious—to the achievers, explorers, inventors and creators. And we are all lifelong students.

When learning matters, use paper.
